Marolen:

This coming Sunday's program will be Celeste Fisher, UUFL Board Member At-Large, continuing her account of what she learned and experienced as a student missionary in Cambodia. The title of her talk is: "Cambodia: The Country and People." Tina Rushing, who is currently helping build a house with Habitat for Humanity, will be the Lay Leader.

Jessica:

The UUFL monthly Board Meeting will be on Sunday, March 21st right after Talk Back. All interested members and friends are welcome to attend.

Susan Hughes:

The Quakers (aka The Society of Friends) will be meeting in the R E building at the back of the parking lot on the first and third Sundays of each month at 11:00 a.m.

As you may recall, in last Sunday's sermon, Scottie Johnson helped us explore just exactly what is Unitarian Universalism and how one lives the faith. Here is what Bob Cargill, one of our members, came up with: "We are obliged to seek, with rigor and honesty, with humility, and without prejudice or fear of the consequences, the truth, and to follow that path wherever it may lead. And we are obliged to live according to the lessons we learn along our path."
